

Index

“168 Applications of Nonviolent Force,” Sharp, 364

A

“abandoned,” as judgment-feeling word, 35–36 abortion issue, listening empathically, 100–01 accuracy, reflection requests for, 139
Adam and Eve, and Myth of Redemptive Violence, 14 advertising agencies, and needs awareness, 52–55 advice-giving, as nonempathic listening response, 76–79
affirmations, to support values of NVC, 311 “aggressive” self-empathy, 250
ahimsa, 2 (note)
aikido, to support self-connection and NVC values, 311 “always,” as judgment word, 113–14 analysis, 77–79, 356–57
anger
 floor map, 237–46
 and good/evil thinking, 233–36
 receiving, 226–33, 251
 taking responsibility for, 219–26, 236–37, 247–50
Anglo-American culture, role of emotional expression, 19–20 appreciation. See gratitude Appreciation You Would Love to Have Received Exercise, 295 approval, as judgment-based, 56–58 approval-seeking behavior, 230–33

Archbishop Simon, 360
Asking About Content Exercise, 86–88
Assailez, Nafez, 360 assistance, as nonempathic listening response, 77–79 Aurelius, Marcus, 228 authority-based paradigms, and demands, 132 autonomy about meeting needs, 62–63, 132–33, 196–202 avoidance, as nonempathic listening response, 77–79

B

Babylonian creation mythology, 14
bad/good, as feelings, 19
bad/good thinking. See good/evil thinking BaMbuti cultures, 16
behavior
 as attempt to fulfill needs, 58–59
 vs. intrinsic nature of humans, 14–15
Being There Exercise, 82 beloved community, 311–12
“Beyond Good and Evil: Creating a Nonviolent World,” interview, 235, 267, 349–66 blame
 as nonempathic response, 184, 202–03
 vs. personal responsibility, 37, 59–60, 233–34 bodily sensations, and feelings, 21–25, 161, 178–80, 185, 237–39, 272

Connecting Across Differences

2nd Edition

380 Connecting Across Differences

- Borges, Jorge Luis, 15
Breaking Free of Self-Pity Exercise, 183
Broadening Our Horizons Exercise, 164
Bryson, Kelly, 263
Buber, Martin, 359
business motivation, and needs awareness, 51–55
- C
capital punishment, 267, 362
Casals, Pablo, 284–85
Cause or Trigger? Exercise, 222–23 cause vs. stimulus of feelings and behavior, 59–65, 220–25, 233–34, 236 celebrating needs met, 189–90, 297, 300, 332
Celebration and Mourning Exercise, 289–97
Cellist, Piatigorsky, 284–85
Center for Nonviolent Communication, 351
The Chalice and the Blade: Our History and Our Future, Eisler, 16
Changing Pitch Exercise, 96–97 checking in with self, for NVC practice, 308–09, 312–13 checking-in requests, 136, 141–42
Chidvilasananda, Gurumayi, 175 childhood, lack of needs awareness in, 50 choices
 about meeting needs, 62–63, 196–201 in responding to self and others, 201–07, 226–27, 338–39, 341–43
 and sacrifice, 153–54
“Choose,” Sandburg, 342
the chooser, in Compassionate Communication model, 167–68, 170
the chooser and the educator, and conflict resolution, 186–89 civil disobedience and nonviolence, 265–66 clarity
 as quality of effective requests, 144–48, 171–73 reflection requests for, 138–39, 161 coercion, underlying judgment-based compliments, 282 cognitive families of words, as clue to needs, 91–93 collaboration, 136, 162–64
collaborative communication, 2 (note) colloquial use of NVC, 103, 321–30 communication, as effective strategy, 267, 366 comparison, as nonempathic listening response, 77–79 compassion, an innate human quality, 12, 16–17, 64, 130, 351 compassion, as innate human quality, 5–6 Compassionate Communication, 2, 168–71. See also Nonviolent Communication (NVC) model compliments and praise
 as judgment, 269–71, 277–80, 357
 as strategy, 281–84
Composting Judgments Into Live Experience Exercise, 209 compromise, and unmet needs, 153 conflict about strategies, 44–45, 47
Connecting the Dots—Strategies and Needs Exercise, 47
Connecting the Energy of Feelings to Life-Enriching Needs Exercise, 46

Connecting With Connection Requests Exercise, 142 connection requests, 136–42, 161
The Connor Compassionate
Communication Index, 246–47
consequences, inherent in demands, 131–32
contributing to others, as human need, 5–6, 64, 130
core beliefs, 12–15, 332–37
core needs, 97–98, 188
couples, demands in, 133
criticism, as expression of unmet needs, 357
ctc.learnnvc.com, 310

D

deep empathy, 334–35
“delight, not compromise” scale, 156–59
demands, vs. requests, 131–36, 159–60
Descartes, René, 19
deserve thinking, 234–35, 352 Developing Choice in Responding to Anger of Others Exercise, 226–27
diagnosis, as nonempathic listening response, 77–79
dialogue, and protective use of force, 259–60, 265
disagreement about strategies, 44–45, 47 Distinguishing Observations From Evaluations Exercise,
114–15
Do You Seek the Approval of Others?
Exercise, 232–33
do-ability of requests, 144, 148–51, 171–73, 240
dogging for your needs, 155, 161, 338 domination culture, 360–61

Don't Be Nice, Be Real, Bryson, 263
Dryden, John, 228
the duck criterion, 156–59

E

the educator and the chooser, and conflict resolution, 186–89
Einhorn, Lois, 176
Eisler, Riane, 16, 17
Elliot, Conal, 134
email, for practicing NVC skills, 310 embarrassment, as double judgment, 193–96
emergency empathy, 309
emotional response habit patterns, 60–62
emotions. See feelings Emoto-Meters Exercise, 23–24
empathetic response to hearing “no,” 151–52
empathic connection, feelings as core element, 18
empathic guesses, sentence frames for, 83–88, 90–91. See also listening empathically to feelings and needs of others
empathic predisposition of humans, 5–6, 12, 16–17, 64, 130
empathic response vs. judgment, 106–09
empathy, 267, 282–83. See also listening empathically to
feelings and needs of others
empathy before education, 99–102, 205–07, 248, 358
empathy buddy, 309, 315–16
empathy from hell, 313–16
Empathy in Action Exercise, 250 empathy journal, 308
ends justify the means, 265–66
Engaging the Powers, Wink, 361 entertainment, emotional response to, 25

Connecting Across Differences

2nd Edition

382 Connecting Across Differences

- evaluations. See also judgments
vs. observations, 111–15, 121–26, 358–59
posing as feelings, 35–40
- exercise, to support self-connection, 311
- external/internal aspects of NVC
model, 129–30
- extrinsic vs. intrinsic consequences
of behavior, 262–63, 282.
See also punishment; reward
systems, as motivators
- ## F
- fake empathy, 313–16
- families, demands in, 133
- fear
communication to address, 267, 366 of judgment, 193–96, 228–33
manifesting as aggression, 260–61
of punishment, as motivator, 261–63
- feeling and sensation journal, 27
- feeling sorry for ourselves, 180–83
- feelings. See also listening empathically to feelings and needs of others; specific feelings
cultural influences, 18–22, 95–96
denial of, as nonempathic
listening response, 77–79
as indicator of needs, 41, 207–09, 356
in NVC model, 123–24, 167–71, 273–77
and physical sensations, 21–25, 161, 178–80, 185, 272 range of intensity, 96–97, 328
street expression of, 323–24, 327–29
thinking as cause of, 28–32, 220
vs. thoughts, 32–40
value of, 22–23
vocabulary of, 26, 367
when needs are met/unmet, 44, 46, 54–55, 169, 224–27
- feelings log, 38
- fist vs. open hand metaphor, 159–60
- focusing and inner relationship focusing, 311
- Force and Feeling Exercise, 17
- Four Ways of Responding—
Awareness and Choice
Exercise, 203
- The Four-Step Dance of Compassion
Exercise, 204
- Frankl, Viktor, 200
- Freeing Ourselves From Shoulds
Exercise, 185
- fulfilled feelings, when needs are met, 44, 46
- ## G
- Gandhi, Mahatma, 259
- Getting to the Root of Anger
Exercise, 224–26
- “gifting” yourself, 301–02
- gifts, and authenticity, 286–88
- Gill, Raj, 237
- glass half-full approach to unmet
needs, 162
- Goebbels, Joseph, 68–69
- Gonzalez, Robert, 179 (note)
- good/bad, as feelings, 19
- good/evil thinking. See also right/wrong thinking
approval and self-esteem as, 56–58
as cultural norm, 12–16, 341, 352 “head listening” and, 74
as judgment, 113–14, 118, 255–56, 360

Grateful for Judgment? Exercise, 270–71
gratitude
 expressing empathic, 271–77, 300–02
 as judgment, 269–70
 politeness and, 286–88
 receiving, 289–96
 requesting from others, 298–300
 toward self, 296–97
gratitude journal, 308
GROK magnets and cards, 309
guessing, when listening empathically, 83–88, 90–96, 244–47

H

Hackett, Buddy, 357
Hafiz, 311
hand shaking, implications, 160
Haskins, Henry Stanley, 175
“have to,” 131–32, 199–201
“head listening,” 74
Hearing the Life in Anger Exercise, 244–46
heart-centered listening, 73–74
helping, 101–02
HERA, 358
hierarchical nature of power-over structures, 55
Hubbard, Elbert, 355
“hungry duck” index, 156–59

I

“I can top your story,” as nonempathic listening
 response, 77–79
“I” statements, in reflection requests, 138 images, to expand awareness of feelings and needs, 211–12
imagining feelings and needs of another, 94

imperative demands, 132
indecision, self-empathy and, 175–76, 196–99
inherent innocence of humans, 13 inner relationship focusing, 311
insults, as expression of unmet needs, 357 intangible nature of needs, 49–50 integration, reflection requests for, 139 intensity of feeling words, continuum of, 96–97
intention, empathic, 103, 131
intention, underlying use of force, 257 internal/external aspects of NVC
 model, 129–30
interpretations vs. observations, 111–15, 124–26
intrinsic human nature vs. human behavior, 14–15
intrinsic nature of needs, 49–50
intrinsic vs. extrinsic consequences
 of behavior, 262–63, 282.
 See also punishment; reward
 systems, as motivators
inverted compliments, 280–81, 283

J

journaling, for NVC practice, 27, 38, 215–16, 299, 308
judgment journal, 308 “judgment show,” 236 judgment-feeling words, 35–36
judgments
 as cause of feelings, 28–32, 222
 as clue to needs, 91–93, 236–39, 266
 vs. empathic response, 106–09
 as expression of unmet needs, 193–96, 357
 as nonempathic listening
 response, 76–79
 vs. observations, 111–15, 123–26

Connecting Across Differences

2nd Edition

384 Connecting Across Differences

posing as feelings, 35–40
positive, 56–58, 269–70, 277–81
taking responsibility for, 1–2, 116–22, 207–09, 220–26
“juicy request” questions, 133–35, 262–63
justice, 234–35, 267, 352–55, 362–64

K

Kashtan, Inbal, 343
Kashtan, Miki, 119 (note)
King, Jr., Martin Luther, 311
Krishnamurti, Jiddu, 175
!Kung societies, 16

L

Language
as clues to needs, 91–93
confusing needs and strategies, 48–49
confusing thoughts and feelings, 32–40
implying judgment, 113–14
of “street” NVC, 103, 321–30
usage in this book, 8–9
Lasater, Ike, 19
Lasater, Judith, 156
“late,” as judgment word, 113–14
“leaderful” groups, 310
Lerner, Michael, 13
Leu, Lucy, 237, 310
Life-Enriching Education, Rosenberg, 351 life-serving judgments vs. moral judgments, 235
Like Oil and Water Exercise, 37 listening empathically to feelings and needs of others. See also
self-empathy
empathy before education,” 99–102, 205–07, 248, 358
guessing to facilitate, 83–91, 92–99, 244–47

vs. judgments, 106–09
qualities of, 71–74
when receiving anger, 226–31, 313–16

Listening to Your Chooser and Educator Exercise, 189
Listservs for NVC, 309, 373
Living Free of Demands Exercise, 135–36
Living With Gratitude Exercise,
295–96
Love, Inessa, 311

M

majority rule, and needs, 45
Making Needs-Meeting Choices
Exercise, 197
Mandela, Nelson, 266
Man's Search for Meaning, Frankl, 200
marketing, and needs awareness, 52–55
Maslow, Abraham, 51
mean people, 13
meditation, to support values of NVC, 311
men, and suppression of feelings, 19
metaphors, use in street NVC, 329–30
minimization, as nonempathic
listening response, 77–79
mistakes, self-empathy for, 183–92
moral judgments
about needs, 45
approval and self-esteem as, 56–58
as expression of unmet needs, 357
vs. needs-based judgments,
58–59, 62–63, 235, 255–56,
353
Morin, Judi, 237
mourning of unmet needs, 56, 189–91, 297

movement, to expand awareness of feelings and needs, 211–12
The Movement of Emotions
Exercise, 26–27
Moving From Hell to Heaven
Exercise, 315–16
music, to expand awareness of
feelings and needs, 211–12
must, 131–32
Myth of Redemptive Violence, 14

N

nature, connecting with, 311
needs. See also listening empathically to feelings and needs of others
-based gratitude, 272–76
-based judgment vs. moral judgment, 58–59, 62–63, 235, 255–56, 353
experiencing as met, 179–80, 209–11
inventory of, 302, 368
-meter, 196–99
met/unmet, and feelings, 169, 182, 221, 224–27
persistent attentiveness to, 155, 161, 338
vs. strategies, 4–5, 48–56, 67–69, 131, 236, 355
translating judgments into, 224–29, 238–40, 244–46
universality of, 3–4, 41–48, 357–58
needs awareness, lacking in psychology courses, 51 “never,” as judgment word, 113–14
newbie NVC, 313–21
“no,” hearing with empathy, 151–52, 161
“No, Thanks” as a Gift Exercise, 288 nonempathic choices, 201–03

nonempathic listening strategies, 74–81, 101–02
nonviolence and civil disobedience, 265–66, 364–65
Nonviolent Communication (NVC),
learning and practicing,
7–8, 103–06, 306–13,
315–16, 371–77
Nonviolent Communication (NVC)
model
colloquial expression of, 165–66, 273–77, 321–27
overview, 123–24, 167–71
as a process, 129–30, 160–61
“NVC is simple—but not easy,” 305
“NVC pushback,” 314–15
NVC trainings, 309–10

O

observations. See also stimulus
vs. cause of feelings and
behavior
vs. evaluations, 111–15, 121–26, 258–59
and requests, compared, 129
taking responsibility for, 116–21, 272–77
offered/requested reflection requests, 138–40
Oliver, Mary, 311
open hand vs. fist metaphor, 159–60 opinions, ownership of, 120–21
opposites, as clue to needs, 92–94
Osler, William, 111
Other Than Empathy Exercise,
78–79
“overworked,” as judgment-feeling word, 36

P

pacing, reflection requests for, 139, 161
Paleolithic era, 16

Connecting Across Differences

2nd Edition

386 Connecting Across Differences

- parental focus on strategies (vs. needs), 50–51
 - partnership-based culture, 17
 - passive resistance, demands and, 133
 - past situations, present tense framing, 83–85
 - pause/take a moment, 161
 - people-pleasing behavior, 230–33
 - Perle, Richard, 68–69
 - physical sensations, and feelings, 21–25, 161, 178–80, 185, 237–39, 272
 - Piatigorsky, Gregor, 284–85
 - pitch of feeling words, range of, 96–97
 - Planning to Practice Exercise, 312–13
 - PLATO, in observations, 117–20
 - politeness, 286–88
 - positive focus
 - of empathic guesses, 88–89
 - of expressions of gratitude, 275–77
 - of requests, 146–48
 - positive judgments, approval and self-esteem as, 56–58
 - positive value of all needs, 44–45
 - possibilities, generating, 162–64
 - power-over paradigm, 55–56, 132, 361. See also punitive use of force
 - power-with paradigm, 55–56
 - practicing NVC, 8, 103–06, 306–13, 371
 - praise and compliments
 - as judgment, 269–71, 277–83, 357
 - as strategy, 281–84
 - present-oriented focus
 - of empathic guessing, 83–85
 - in practicing self-empathy, 178
 - of requests, 144, 150–51, 240
 - protective use of force
 - anecdotal examples, 263–64
 - in nonviolence and civil disobedience, 265–66
 - vs. punitive use of force, 256–63, 266–67
 - public affairs, lack of needs awareness in, 50–51
 - punishment
 - inherent in demands, 131–32
 - as learning tool, 230, 255–56, 261–63
 - strategies as, 50
 - punitive use of force
 - beliefs underlying, 255–56, 261–63
 - vs. protective use of force, 260–61, 266–67
 - punitive violence myths, 14
- ## R
- Rajendrum, Chris, 360
 - rape, restorative justice and, 353–55
 - Real Feeling Exercise, 34
 - reassurance, as nonempathic listening response, 75–79
 - recidivism in prisons, 363–64
 - recipe for requests, 134–35
 - Reflecting on Reflection Exercise, 140
 - reflection requests, 136–40
 - regret, self-empathy and, 175–76
 - religious groups, and compassion, 359–60
 - repeated experiences, and core beliefs, 335–37
 - requests
 - for connection, 136–42
 - as connection with outside world, 129–30, 143
 - vs. demands, 131–36, 159–60
 - hearing responses to, 151–59, 161
 - in practicing self-empathy, 178, 192, 214–15
 - qualities of effective, 144–51, 171–73, 240

- resentment/retaliation, and unmet needs, 153–54
- Responsibility, Action, and Response Exercise, 63
- responsibility, for needs and feelings of others, 64–65, 230–33
- responsibility, for our own experience. See also stimulus vs. cause of feelings and behavior
- be the change you wish to see, 331–32
- and “have to” thinking, 199–201
- vs. judgments, 1–3, 36–37, 65–67, 116–22, 220–21
- restorative justice vs. retribution, 235, 267, 352–55, 362–64
- retaliation/resentment, and unmet needs, 153–54
- retribution vs. restorative justice, 235, 267, 352–55, 362–64
- reverse golden rule, 176–77
- reward systems, as motivators, 230, 263
- right/wrong thinking. See also good/evil thinking as cultural norm, 12–17
- vs. needs-based thinking, 45, 62–63, 220–21
- Rogers, Carl, 350
- Rokeach, Milton, 359–60
- role-plays, for practicing NVC skills, 310
- root meanings of words, as clue to needs, 91–93
- Rosenberg, Marshall
- on “deserve” thinking, 235
- development of NVC, 6–7
- dog and apple metaphor, 58
- hungry duck test, 156
- interview with, 235, 267, 342, 349–66
- on requests, 134
- Rumi, 12, 311
- The Rush of Feeling Exercise, 25
- ## S
- sacrifice, and unmet needs, 153
- salvationist thinking, 360
- Sandburg, Carl, 342
- Satir, Virginia, 230
- scarcity, as core belief, 55, 153
- Seeing Our Judgments, Creating Compassion Exercise, 180
- self-acceptance, as universal need, 58
- self-check-ins, 206–07
- self-empathy
- for celebrating needs met, 212–13
- converting judgments into, 183–92, 207–09, 247–50
- for core beliefs, 332–37
- NVC model for, 177–80, 214–17
- as response option, 201–07, 228–29, 330
- vs. self-pity, 180–83
- silent, 204, 330
- through images, music, movement, 211–12
- value of, 175–77, 213–14
- when listening empathically, 99, 101, 193–96, 313–15
- when making choices, 196–201
- self-empathy journal, 308
- self-esteem, as judgment-based, 56–58
- self-judgment, 183–85, 191–92, 228–33, 334–35
- self-pity, 180–83
- self-respect, as universal need, 58
- sentiment/sentimental, 20
- Separating the Bee From the Sting Exercise, 60–62
- shaking hands, implications, 160
- shame, as double judgment, 193–96
- Sharp, Gene, 364
- Shifting Self-Judgments to Self-Empathy Exercise, 191–92

Connecting Across Differences

2nd Edition

388 Connecting Across Differences

“should” thinking, 131–32, 184–85, 220–24, 238–40 silent empathy, 96, 203–07, 330

social media, for practicing NVC skills, 310

social status, as strategy, 53

“sometimes,” as judgment word, 113–14

Speaking Peace in a World of Conflict, Rosenberg, 351 specificity

- in observations, 117–20, 284
- of requests, 147–51, 171–73

spiritual practice, to support NVC consciousness, 311

sports, emotional response to, 25

static view of self and others, 184

Stimulation and Response Exercise, 28–32 stimulus vs. cause of feelings and behavior, 59–65, 220–23, 233–34, 236, 238–40 storytelling, as nonempathic listening response, 77–79 strategies for meeting needs

- discovering alternative, 157–59, 162–64, 172–73, 236, 249
- layering of, 67–68
- moving to prematurely, 142
- vs. needs, 4–5, 48–56, 67–69, 131
- overview, 42–47

strategies for responding when listening to others, 75–81

strategies in compliments, 280–83

“street” use of NVC, 103, 321–30

succinctness, in empathic listening, 89–90

sympathy, as nonempathic listening response, 76–79

T

tai chi, to support self-connection, 311

take a breath, 161

Taking Responsibility for Our Experience Exercise, 117

talking head show, 91–93

Taming Double Judgment Exercise, 195–96

Taylor, Gail, 162

thank you, 286–88

Thatcher, Margaret, 19–20

thoughts. See also judgments

- as cause of feelings, 28–32, 222
- vs. feelings, 32–40
- as stimuli for actions, 17

threatened consequences, inherent in demands, 131–32

To the Heart of the Matter Exercise, 90–91

Tracking Judgments Exercise, 115

triggers, and core beliefs, 334–35

Trying to Buy Love Exercise, 54–55

Tutu, Desmond, 266

U

“unappreciated,” as judgment-feeling word, 36

Uncovering Choices Exercise, 201

Unearthing Needs in Roots and Oppositions Exercise, 93–94

“unfulfilled” feelings, when needs are unmet, 44

universal needs, overview, 3–4

unmet needs, 56, 180–83, 189–91

Unplugging Judgments in Stereo Exercise, 229

Urban Empathy, Killian, 311

“usually,” as judgment word, 113–14

V

values-based judgments vs. moral judgments, 58–59

violence

in communication, 11–12

as cultural norm, 14–17, 261–63, 362

as expression of unmet needs, 338–39

visceral listening, 73–74

visual images, to expand awareness of feelings and needs, 211–12

W

walking in another's shoes, 94

“walking on the sunny side,” 88–89 wars, and right/wrong thinking, 262

When Students Love to Learn and Teachers Love to Teach, Rosenberg, 351

White, David, 311

Wink, Walter, 14, 352, 361

women, and emotional expression, 19–20

Working the Index Exercise, 247

workplace, demands in, 133

wrong/right thinking. See right/wrong thinking

Y

Yoda, 104

yoga, to support self-connection, 311

YouTube NVC videos, 308